4. Inspire Presentation – Leo Abramoff, Account Lead, Inspire (via live web)
Crystal R. briefly explained the Inspire initiative as a cloud based platform that connects education and industry with employer profiles, career coaches, work-based learning experiences, communication tools, local events and social networking. Inspire is a “next level” to the Department of Public Instruction, Career Cruising platform that all school districts throughout the state will be required to implement by Fall of 2017 as part of Academic Career Planning (ACP). She explained that there is currently a proposal in front of the Regional Leadership Council (RLC) from Inspire that would include a regional licensing of the platform. At this time, it is our understanding that if a regional license is pursued, all K-12 school districts within the 10-county region would have access to the platform at no cost to them. Discussions between the RLC and Wisconsin Economic Development Corporation (WEDC) currently are being coordinated regarding WEDC reimbursing each region for the license cost.

Leo A. gave a high level overview of Inspire including goals of the program, features, and benefits.

After the presentation, group discussion led to questions regarding cost, implementation, and sustainability. Considering that no firm commitment has been made at WEDC’s level to our knowledge, Crystal R. assured members that she would keep them informed as discussion continues at the state and RLC level. Next steps will be to hold a regional stakeholders meeting between Visions Northwest, Northwest Wisconsin Workforce Investment Board, CESA, WITC, and others to further discuss this initiative and potential implementation.

5. 2017 RIsE Sessions – Final Details

Crystal R. reminded members that the focus of the 2017 RIsE Sessions will be young professionals, talent, and attraction. She explained that registration invitations has been emailed out to 354 subscribers on Friday, March 3rd. The presentation being offered at the sessions will be given by UW-Madison graduate students focusing on gaining and retaining young people in WI rural communities. The study takes a look at communities that are gaining and retaining a younger population rather than those losing them. Crystal R. emphasized the importance of sharing the information with member's contact lists, etc. to help spread the word. The cost of the event was reduced from $12 to $10 due to sponsorships received from Enbridge and WITC. Young professional panelists and facilitators had been confirmed for both the Shell Lake and Hurley events. Final details regarding Ladysmith in June are still a work in progress.

6. Wood Industry Group Collaborative

Crystal R. referenced notes from the 2/2/17 collaborative meeting included in the meeting packet. The collaborative continues to gain momentum with the Grow North Region. At the last meeting, a purpose statement to clarify efforts was approved. The statement explains the effort to connect the wood products industry with economic development, workforce development, and public agencies to encourage growth in investments, training, and jobs throughout the region. Discussion of a potential workshop continued as well as a marketing collaboration with other agencies. The next meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, March 28th in Minocqua and will incorporate key stakeholders into the collaborative from Great Lakes Timber Professionals and Wisconsin County Forests Association.

7. Around the Table – Other Business

Gerri D. discussed Governor Walker's visit to Cable for a "cabinet on the road" session.
